(Think of Chinese population scale & management capability.) (2) Why does Chinese government have such a hard-line attitude and standpoint on the Senkaku (Diaoyu) Islands, and give nobody the leeway to change it? (3) What is Tibetan problem? (Take Japan one hundred years ago into consideration.) (4) China's one-child policy & population problem (The future of India & the United Nations' position) (5) Why does China take an uncompromising stance on Taiwan issue? ◇Period 2

200G3731	The China-Japan-US Trilateral Relations	2	ZHANG Yun	D308	International relations	English	U/G	3-4 term
		This course is to introduce and analyze the dynamic relations among China, Japan and the United States. The China-Japan-US trilateral relations are increasingly to have a profound impact on the future of the international system in the rising Asia-Pacific region and the whole world at large. The US, Japan and China are the three biggest economies in the world and the combined GDP of them accounts for near 50% of the global GDP. The interdependence of these major powers is evidenced by the trade volume among them has surpassed 50% of the global trade volume. However, this dynamic relationship's future is full in both hope and uncertainty. The US and Japan relationship which has been regarded as the most stable alliance is under scrutiny of the both sides. The US is seeing China with a mixed perspective of a rising rivalry and a possible partner. China-Japan relations have experienced ups and downs after the normalization of the diplomatic ties, but the foundation of these two Asian powers' relationship is far from solid. To some extent, without understanding the trilateral dynamics of the China-Japan-US relations, you might misread the global trend of the future world.
