

Astrakhan State University

Astrakhan State University is the largest scientific and educational complex, the only classical university in the region that was founded by the Ministry of Science and Higher Education of the Russian Federation. More than 13,000 students study at the university, including 2,000 foreign students from the Caspian states, neighboring CIS and non-CIS countries. Astrakhan State University offers the opportunity to learn 16 foreign languages.

The university implements an efficient system of continuing education within college, Bachelor, Specialist, Master and postgraduate programs.

ASU has strong partnerships with more than 80 leading foreign universities, international organizations and companies from 20 countries. Cultural, research and information centers have been established as part of the cooperation.

The University runs the UNESCO Chair “The Learning Society and Human Sustainable Development”. ASU is a part of the SCO University network, a member of the Association of Universities of Caspian Region States, Association of Sino-Russian Technical Universities and Black Sea University Network.
