

Shinshu University

Shinshu University (SU) is a comprehensive national university located in Nagano Prefecture, center of Japan, a region blessed with abundant nature, folk crafts, historical assets, and traditional culture. SU was founded in 1949 as a national university which integrated seven institutions of higher education within Nagano Prefecture into one. SU consists of 8 undergraduates (Faculty of Arts, Education, Economics and Law, Science, Engineering, Agriculture, Textile Science and Technology, School of Medicine (with attached operating hospital)) and 5 corresponding graduate schools spread across 5 campuses with a total number of staff of 1,100 and a total number of students of about 11,000 (including about 350 foreign students).

The Interdisciplinary Cluster for Cutting-Edge Research was established in order to bring together resources in six research areas in which the University has unique, world-class strengths: Research Initiative for Supra-Materials, Institute for Biomedical Sciences, Research Center for Social Systems, Institute for Fiber Engineering, Institute for Mountain Science and Shinshu University Research Center for Aerospace Systems.
